Cumberland County Will Benefit if Maine Accepts Federal Health Care Funds

Accepting Federal Health Care Funds Saves Lives

Access to care allows individuals to see a regular doctor rather than visit an ER, and get preventive care and disease screenings rather than putting off health problems that could result in life threatening consequences. Access to care through Medicaid is associated with a 6% decrease in deaths among adults 20-64 over a five-year period.<sup>1</sup>

- In 2012, 25,763 people were uninsured in Cumberland County, which is about 11% of all adults under age 65 in the county.<sup>2</sup>
- If Maine accepts new federal health care funding, 12,045 more people in Cumberland County will be eligible for health insurance through MaineCare.<sup>3</sup> This includes 3,662 people in Cumberland County who, without federal funds, lost their traditional Medicaid coverage on December 31, 2013 because of previously enacted cuts to MaineCare.<sup>4</sup>
- People below the poverty line ($11,770 for individuals and $20,090 for a family of three) are ineligible for financial subsidies through the marketplace, and those just over the poverty line will likely be unable to afford premiums and out of pocket costs, even with available subsidies.

Accepting Federal Health Care Funds Saves Money and Drives the Economy

Federal funding will cover 100% of the costs for newly insured individuals through 2016, and no less than 90% thereafter. Cumberland County will receive a significant economic boost:

- If Maine accepts the federal funds, by 2016, an additional $59 million will be spent annually in Cumberland County hospitals, doctor's offices, and other health care settings.<sup>5</sup>
- This new federal spending will stimulate approximately $105 million in additional economic activity a year in Cumberland County by 2016.<sup>6</sup>
- In Cumberland County, one in five jobs are in a health care related field. Accepting federal funds will produce approximately 850 new jobs in the county and 3,000 new jobs in Maine. This includes 281 new hospital jobs Cumberland County.<sup>7</sup>

Cumberland County and Maine Will Benefit

The benefits in Cumberland County will be repeated throughout Maine, creating a healthier population and a healthier economy for everyone. Cumberland County and Maine businesses will retain a competitive advantage against neighboring states that have accepted federal funds, avoid tax penalties under the Affordable Care Act, and have a healthier workforce. The bottom line: Maine stands to gain over $350 million in federal funds annually, tens of millions of which will come directly to Cumberland County.
